

Trip to the Royal Academy on Thursday Nov 15th 2018

'Oceania'

Priceless art treasures from the South Pacific are presented in the Royal Academy's major autumn exhibition, 'Oceania'. It is the first ever and long overdue survey in UK of Oceanic art and marks 250 years since Captain James Cook set sail aboard Endeavour to explore the uncharted seas of the South Pacific, Tahiti, Polynesia, Melanesia, Micronesia and numerous archipelagos. Oceania offers insight into the original and powerful indigenous art of the South Pacific civilisations and islands which collectively cover a third of the world's surface. It includes around 250 objects from ancient history to the present day, with works from New Guinea, New Zealand, Hawaii, Easter Island and from contemporary leading artists in the area.

'Klimt / Schiele Drawings'

Another stunning exhibition on show in the Sackler Wing, is a collaboration between the RA and the Albertina Museum in Vienna to show rare and fragile drawings by Gustav Klimt and Egon Schiele, two icons of early Modernism. Considered to be some of the 20th century's most important works on paper this unique and special exhibition offers insight into their artistic relationship and differing creative processes.

It includes around 100 portraits, landscapes and nudes including Klimt's sketches for his seminal Beethoven Frieze, and self-portraits by Schiele, which due to their delicacy will not be shown in public again for many years.

The RA advises that you pre-book your exhibition entrance for both exhibitions. Exhibition entrance is £18 for Oceania, £16 for Klimt/Schiele.
